The little office of Justice Schmueriger, in Palisade-ave., Union Hill, N. J., was densely crowded yesterday morning, when the case of Mr. Boh against the pastor of the Porter M. E. Church of West Hoboken, Mr. Trumbower, was called. At least 150 persons had also gathered on the sidewalk-A few minutes after 9 o'clock Constable Ludlow appeared with his prisoner, and was speedily followed by Joseph Boh, who had caused the arrest on a charge of assault and battery with intent to kill, as stated in yesterday's TRIBUNE. The Rev. Mr. Trambower had spent the night at the house of D. P. Westervelt, in charge of Constable Ludlow, Mr. Westervelt having with reluctance become bondsman in $500 for the appearance of his pastor. The Rev. Mr. Trumbower was smiling, and looked much refreshed with sleep. His air was easy, and he did not seem to mind scrutiny.

T. Day appeared as counsel for the defendant, and Mr. Hoetzel, the father-iu-law of Boh, appeared for the complainant.

"Shall I go on with the examination?" asked the Justice, as he rapped for order.

Counsel stated that the parties to the suit had Counsel stated that the parties to the suit had come to a mutual understanding in regard to the matter, and that Mr. But desired to withdraw the complaint, if Mr. Trumbower would agree not to prosecute him for false imprisonment. To this the paster agreed, and the necessary papers were signed. Then the Justice discharged the prisoner, who lost no time in going to the house to pack up his clothes. He does not intend to board with Mr. But any longer, at all events. Later in the day he left Union Hill for Hackettstown, N. J., where he has a sister living. He will return and preach on Sunday pext, he says. A trustee of the church remarked that the minister would probably preach for two or three Sundays, "on the fly as it were," so as not to go away in disgrace, and then he would retire permanently. On Sunday evening, it is is said, Boh called at the house of D. P. Westervelt, where the paster was locked up in the parlor, and desired an interview with the prisoner. The request was granted, and after several plans of settlement had been discussed a compromise was finally agreed upon. Justice Schnueriger said that although he had dismissed the case, he should be compelled to send the papers to the Grand Jary for its action. He also added that when he gave the Rev. Mr. Trumbower his revolver, after the examination, the latter dropped it carelessly into a side pocket of his ulster. On being told that the weapon was loaded he said, "Oh, that's all right." The home of the Boh family is in Franklin st. It

The home of the Boh family is in Franklin-st. It is a neat two-story frame dwelling with a French roof. Mrs. Boh had not returned to it last evening, and the servant in charge said that she was not coming back, but was staying with her sister, Mrs. Pierson. Application at the house of Mrs. Pierson to see Mrs. Boh, was met by a decided refusal. Mrs. Boh was sitting by a front window at the time, looking very much amused.

Mrs. Du Bois, whom the pastor once accused of scheming to marry her daughter, Maggie, to him, said yesterday that she "would rather see Maggie put under ground than to have her marry that man Trumbower."

D. P. Westervelt, a trustee of the church, said that the Rev. Mr. Trumbower was a very young man, whose sympathy ran away with his judgment. Mrs. Bob was accustomed to have fits—sometimes fifteen a day—and the minister naturally became interested in her—so much so, in fact, that when she was ill he took care of her, her husband refusing to bire a nurse.

A BURGLAR SHOT AT NEW-ROCHELLE. ROBBING A HOUSE, BUT TAKING TIME TO DRINK WINE-A VIGILANT COACHMAN.

J. F. Harrison, a lawyer, whose office is at Fulton and Nassau-sts., recently removed with his family from New-Rochelle to this city for the Winter, and left his house in Huguenot Park in charge of his coachman and family, who lived in the basement. coachman and family, who lived in the basement. About 2 a.m. on Sunday the coachman was disturbed by some noises overhead. Arming himself with a revolver he cantiously ascended the stairs, but found the upper door locked or bolted on the other side. He then returned to the basement and reached the rear piazza from the outside. There he found a large quantity of furniture, clothing, curtains and other articles of value piled up ready for removal, and near by stood a strange man whom he accosted without obtaining any reply.

The coachman fired at the stranger, who started to run away: Then he discharged another barrel at the retreating figure, and with effect, as a trail of blood indicated. While the servant was looking after the escaping burglar, two confederates hastily left the house, and it is supposed that two others made their retreat by the front window, as five glasses which had been used in drinking wide. By the second story were found, On making an examination of the house it was alsovered that every article which could be removed had been taken from the rooms, closets and wardrobes in the parlor and second-story rooms, and piled up ready to be conveyed from the premises. All the closets, bureaus and desks had been forced open by jummies, and badity damaged. The thieves had entered by breaking the glass in the parlor window and then forcing open the inside shutters. While engaged in their operations they took time to drink several bottles of wine.

FINDING HER HUSBAND AND SON DEAD. Mrs. Guy Wade acts as a nurse in Summit, N. J.

On Sunday afternoon, after an absence of a few days, she visited her home to spend a few hours days, she visited her home to spend a few hours with her family. When she reached her house she found both the front and bock doors locked, and so climbed in through one of the windows. As soon a she had entered she noticed a neculiar odor, and on going into the bedroem found her husband and son, a boy of twelve years, dead in bed. A physician was summoned and stated that they had probably been dead since Thursday night. It was thought that death must have been caused by suffocation from gas escaping from the stove, as the damper in the stove was closed and its door open.

INHUMANITY ON THE OCEAN. The British brig Excelsior, which arrived yester-day from Cape Haytien. had on board five of the whic— was run down off Cape Hatteras by an unknown bark on the night of January 7. The schooner was from Demerara on December 19, for Boston, with a cargo of old iron, and a few minutes before she was struck sighted the bark coming before the wind and headed directly toward the control of the county to make good the deficit; but that as the mortgage was valueless, the savings bank was the loser.

Mr. Demerest denies the whole charge emphati-

Captain Morris ran forward and attempted to jump to the bark, when he fell between the two vessels and had his right arm erashed and his head injured. He was palled on board the schooner by his crew, but died in an hour afterward. He was thirty-eight years old and a resident of Advocate, Nova Scotia, where he was married only two months before his death. His body was thrown overboard at daybreak next morning. The crew of the sinking schooner hailed the bark for help, but the latter kept on her course, paying no attention to the damage done. At midnight a vessel was sighted and signals of distress were set and answered, but no efforts were made to rescue the shipwrecked crew. Next day the Excelsior rescued the sailors.

EXPLOSION OF A GAS MAIN. A COLUMN OF FIRE MANY FEET HIGH-THE RESULT OF A BLAST.

A row of new houses is building on the east side of Second-ave., between Eighty-fourth and Eightyfifth-sts., and the walls have been raised a little beyond the level of the street. Workmen were engaged yesterday in making connections between the house sewers and the street sewer, and they were obliged to tunuel through a large rock which lay under the curb. John McNierny, the contractor, gave orders in the afternoon to blast away portions of the rock, and a blast was made ready shortly before 5 o'clock. It was successful in shattering the rock, but it also caused a break in the thirty-inch gas main of the Kuickerbocker Gaslight Company, which lay between the rock and the street sewer.

A fragment of rock was thrown against the main with so much force as to break the pipe, and immediately there was a loud explosion. The pavement and earth above were thrown into the air to the distance of many feet, leaving a circular well, at the bottom of which the broken main was exposed. The gas took fire as it escaped from the break, and the fame mounted to a considable height. Much excitement was caused in the neighborhood, and crowds of persons gathered to witness the monstrous gas jet. The Fire Department was summoned to the place and spent nearly an hour in smothering the flame. The broken main was not repaired, but it was covered with loose soil. rock, and a blast was made ready shortly before 5

TRIBUTES TO S. B. DUTCHER.

The Assistani-Appraisers of of the Custom House on Saturday presented to the Hon. S. B. Dutcher on the occasion of his retirement from the office of Appraiser of the port, a letter expressive of their feelings toward him. The letter mentions the solidity and strength of his character, the sobriety and justness of his judgment, his robust integrity and indomitable will. The letter rity and indomitable will, The letter adds: "As an administrative officer you have displayed executive talents of the first order, have exhibited a temper and disposition of unvarying evenness, a judicial fairness and an unchanging determination to do all men justice. With singular energy and devotion to duty you have mastered the difficulties of a most difficult and responsible public office, protecting with equal fairness the interests of the Government and its citizens. For your unfailing courtesy to us in all relations, personal and official, we thank you. You have set an example of unrightness and public virtue worthp of universal canulation."

Mr. Dutcher expressed his thanks for the expression of feeling, and paid a tribute to the ability, integrity and bidelity of his assistants.

Mr. Dutcher was also presented with a letter from the officers and employes of his office, assuring him of their appreciation of his uniform kindness, and while they rejoiced over his promotion, they regretted the separation at made necessary. He responded with much feeling.

of age, left her home Saturday afternoon of age, left her home Saturday afternoon and has not since returned. No cause is assigned for her sudden departure, except that she was very fond of one of the men boarding at the house, who sailed, it is said, for Italy on Thursday. The girl seemed to be much affected by his departure, and is supposed to have left the house in resentment at some reproof administered by her mother. A little girl of her acquaintance has, however, seen Gussie since her departure, she says, but her friends cannot find her. Ellen Breen, age thirteen years, is reported as missing from her home, at No. 45 Madison-st., since Friday.

"Oh, he only said that in fun; he didn't mean it."

"They then left the room. Annie told me after that, that he was zoing to call enher later. About 10 o'clock a man did call on her. She returned to the parlor again and staid until 12:30 a. m. She then came to my room and told me that the man who had promised to come back had arrived. She was in good spirits and bade me good night several times. I never saw her intextented. She was very lively, laughing and stusting all the time. I did not hear the man going up starts. I was in the exclusion and cannot hear anybody on the stairs."

Mr. Smith testified that he found the gate leading from the alley to the street open on the moraing the body was found. He could not say whether or not the back dose leading from the house to the yard was found open in the moraine. It was open when he went in the part, but it might have been opened by one of the other nersons in the house.

The afficial persons connected with the case were very reticent yesterday as to their opinions, but others thought that the martler theory looked plausible at least. The missing watch and chain have not been found.

CHARGED WITH A HUSBAND'S DEATH. MES, METERHOEFFER AND FRANZ LAMMENS ON TETAL

The trial of Mrs. Margaret Meierhoeffer and Franz Lammens, for the murder of John Meterhoeffer, was begun in Newark yesterday before Judges David M. Depue and John H. Meeker. On October 9, 1879, the body of John Meierhoeffer, age seventy, a farmer living the cellar of his house. A builet-wound in the back of the head showed the cause of death. Laving in the ouse at the time were his wife Margaret, age forty-five her son Theodore, are fifteen a hired man, who had been a tramp and had been engaged by Meterhoeffer a few weeks previously, and J. C. Pearson, the district school-teacher, who was a boarder with the family. Mrs. Meierhoeffer charged the murder upon Lammens.

Both she and Lammens were arrested.

Upon the opening of the trial yesterday, the courtroom was crowned.

Borcherling was assigned by the Court as commel for Lummens. The jury was obtained before noon.

County Physician Dr. P. V. P. Hewlitt testified that he found the body in the cellar behind a barrel, arear the wall. There were marks of blood on the cellar stairs. The builted in the head fitted Lammen's revolver. Constable W. S. Randail, of West Orange, testified that he made the arrests when the murder was discovered. When he knocked at the door of the house, shortly before midnight on the might of October 9, Mrs. Meierhoeffer opened the door and catching him by the shoulder, said, "That man is getting out of the back window," He hastened to the back of the house, and saw Lammens in bed. Asking Mrs. Meierhoeffer where her husband was, she replied, "Dead in the cellar." When reaching the cellar-door she said, "Here is where he shot my musband," and she anded something about "kicking him downstairs," When the cellar was reached she said, "He has moved the body," Mrs. Meierhoeffer told the witterss that the murder occurred at about 11:30 a. m. The officer was told by her that Lammens had committed the deed, and had stolen goods. Lammens made no attempt to get away.

Mary Walsh declares that she peocured morphine at the request of her friend, who said she had been in the habit of taking it while living in Philadelphia, and wanted some to make her feel sleepy.

An examination of the dead woman's effects was made by the Coroner, and letters and eards of such a nature were found as to leave no doubt as to her character. She is said to have come originally from Sunbury, Penn. She came to New-York from Pathadelphia some months ago. Her real name is not known.

DEAD AT HIS BROTHER-IN-LAW'S HAND Elijah Nash, who was stabbed in the abdoen a week ago to-day by his brother-in-law, Stepher Meeker, at No. 47 Prince-st., Brooklyn, died at the Brooklyn City Hospital late Sunday night, from perito nitis. Nash was twenty-four years of age, and was em ployed as a coach-driver. On Tuesday morning last he went to No. 47 Prince st., where his mother, brother and his sister and her husband live. According to the statements made, Meeker quarrelled with his wife and struck her. This enraged her two brothers, Elijah and James, and they threatened him with violence. Meeker then obtained a pair of shears and made an attack upon the two brothers, one of whom is said to have been armed with a poker white the other had a knife in his possession. Eiljah Nash, after being wounded, walked to Myrtle-ave, and Navy-st., and was then taken to the hespital. Mecker was arrested and James Nash was held as a witness. Justice Waish yesterday committed them to await the Coroner's action.

A SAILOR STABBED BY A SHIPMATE. The examination into the charge of murder against Daniel Leonard, was held yesterday before United States Commissioner Shields. Evidence was given as to the killing of Auton Klowitouski on the American bark Archer on December 19, while on a voyage from Amsterdam to New-York. The following entry by the captain in the lay book was offered in evidence:

"Anton Klowitouski, being questioned by me, says that he was sent by the second officer to get some tar from under the top-zaliant forecastle where Leonard was at work; that Leonard asked him what he was going to do. He answered that "it was nothing to him," or words to that effect, when Leonard, after exchanging some more words, setzed his kinfe and rushed at him, but was atopped by a blow of a stick, but on a second attempt he succeeded in stabbing him in the bowels."

SUMMIT.—The store of August II. Diedrich was entered and robbed of goods on Thursday night. A tramp named Peter Dillon was arrested subsequently on suspicion and effected his escape. Nearly all the men of the township turned out to search for him, and he was found secreted in a hay-loft. HOBOKEN.-Peter Petrouskey, the Russian who shot himself while confined in a cell at Police Headquarters at Hoboken, on a charge of robbing a house at Hackensack, N. J., died at St. Mary's Hospital in Hoboken Saturday night. Just before his death he was told that he was dying, but he refused to see his wife, and said he was glad his end was near.

LONG ISLAND.

BLISSVILLE.—The recent fail of the temporary Bissville Bridge into Newtown Creek is likely to prove a serious matter. Since the accident there he on the bottom, in addition to the bridge, the body of a horse and a heavy truck, which were on the structure when it fell. It will cost about $3,000 to remove the obstructions and to place the bridge in its proper position. John Woods, to whom the horse and truck belonged, claims $2,000 for damages. STATEN ISLAND.

PORT RICHMOND.—Every day for some time past from eight to ten scows loaded with garbage and other material have been towed down the kills and the cargoes dumped on the shore at Port Richmond. The refuge is being used by certain persons to fill in docks at the latter place. It is very offensive.

BENJAMIN C. BOGERT'S FRAUDS.

THE FORGED BERGEN COUNTY BONDS. SUIT BY THE CHOSEN FREEHOLDERS AGAINST THE MERCHANTS' EXCHANGE BANK AND SHERIFF BOWE.

Suit has been begun in the United States Circuit Court by the Chosen Freeholders of Bergen County, New-Jersey, against the Merchants' Exchange National Bank and Peter Bowe, Speriff. The action arises out of the defalention of Benjamin C. Bogert, Treasurer of the Produce Exchange and ex-Collector of Bergen County. The complaint sets forth that the county was indebted, prior to Jaly, 1876, in the sum ment with the creditors.

The Martha Washington reception of St. John's Guild wift take place at the Academy of Music tonight. The demand for tackets and boxes yesterday was very active. The tablean of Franklin's Reception at the Court of France will be presented at 10 o'clock. The Court Quadrille will be one of the tableaux.

Here Wilson the Academy of Music tonight the balance 800 blank bonds of $500 each were printed; that the county was authorized to issue $348,000 in these bonds, and that accordingly 696 blanks were used and the names of the holders of the matured bonds inserted these tonics. bonds two, numbered 102 and 631, were defaced, and two others, numbered 721 and 722, were issued in their stead. The bonds issued were numbered Bellevne Hospital yesterday. He was taken below Justice Smith in the Harlem Police Court, where he made an afficiavit charging Scannell was present in court, and was held in $3,000 bail for trual at the General Sessions.

The funeral of the late Dr. Aaron S. Van Praag, a deattal surgeon, was attended by a large number of relatives and freinds in the Synagogue B'oail Jesburum in West Thirty-fourth-st., near Seventh-ave., at 10 a. m. yesterday, Delegates from the Adephin Lodge, No. 23, of the Massone Traternity and from the liebrew Muttail Beneit Society were present.

A petition will be presented to the Aldermen to-day, by Channecy Shaffer and others, asking for the privilege of establishing a ferry from any point on the North River to the foot of Thurty-sixth street, Brooklyn, to be called the New-York and Greenwood Ferry. It is believed that the new ferry is intended to connect with with the Sea Beach Ruilroad, running to Concy Island.

The case of Alfred Follin, who is charged with embezzlement, while employed as a book-keeper in Frank Leshe's publishing house, to the amount of $1,500 for his appearance February 2 in the General Sessions.

The managers of the Society for the Reformation of Juvenile Delinquents have forwarded their fifty afth armual report to the Legislarure. On October 31 these were 1,378 inmaies of the refuge. The receipts of the year up to October 1 were $10,69,676,74, and the expenditures $94,032 15. The immates are employed by contract at regular labor either on shirts, stockings or wire work, or in gardening or domestic duties.

Citizens on the West-Side have petitioned the Board of Street Opening and Improvement, consisting of the Mayor, Controller, Comissioner of Public Works, President of the Board of Alderment and Deposition of the Board of Alderment and Deposition of the Board of Aldermen, and Deposition of the Board of Aldermen, and Deposition of the Board of Board of Street Opening and Improvement, consisting of the Mayor, Controller, Comissioner of Public Works, President of the from 1 to 101 inclusive; from 103 to 680 inclusive;

$50,000 for more than two years before the alleged hypothecation.

It is pointed out that although the bonds are not valid at present, if they should pass into the hands of bona fide purchasers for value they might be held to be valid, and that under the attachment it is possible they may be sold and Bergen County become liable. It is therefore asked that it may be decreed that the blank bonds were never authorised by law; that they are not valid or existing obligations of the County of Bergen, but that they are fraudulent, null and void, and that the bank may be decreed to deliver them to the county authorities to be cancelled. It is also asked that pending this suit the bank may be enjoined from parting with them, and that the Sheriff may be enjoined from taking possession of them.
